

UNIVERSIDAD
COMPLUTENSE
MADRID

FACULTY OF PHILOLOGY

MASTER'S DEGREE IN ENGLISH LINGUISTICS:
NEW APPLICATIONS
AND INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS

Master's Degree in English Linguistics: New Applications and International Communications

Branch of Knowledge

Arts and Humanities

Centre responsible

Faculty of Philology. UCM

Orientation: research

Credits: 60 ECTS

Duration: 1 academic year (2 semesters)

Mode: classroom learning

N° of places: 45

www.ucm.es/ma-elnac

Objectives

The Master's in English Linguistics: New Applications and International Communications (MLINACI), with a Quality Award, is aimed at professionals and future professionals who wish to go into either the world of research in English Linguistics, the use of ICT and its application to teaching-learning English, or to specialise in international and intercultural communications.

The fundamental objectives according to each speciality module are:

- To train researchers in English Linguistics, future doctors and university teachers.
- To train specialists in various areas of information technology and its applications to teaching-learning English.
- To train professionals in intercultural communications and translation.

Tarjet

Graduates in English Philology, English Studies, Translation and Interpretation. Certified Level of English C1 (Common European Framework of Reference for Languages). Consideration will also be given to: academic record (40 points), curriculum vitae (30 points), knowledge of languages certified by official entities (10 points) and other merits (20 points).

Why study this Master's?

Some of the professional and/or academic opportunities which this Master's Degree has provided other students who have completed it, are the following:

- English Language and Linguistics Teacher (university level).
- Linguistics researcher.
- Non-university teacher (secondary education, academies, adult education, etc.).
- Translator.
- Linguistics advisor.
- Linguistics mediator.
- Editor and editorial assistant.
- Linguistics policy and planning professional.
- Education manager.
- Language and communication technology professional.
- Public administration professional (national and international).
- Media professional.

Structure

The Master's Degree is composed of modules and subjects:

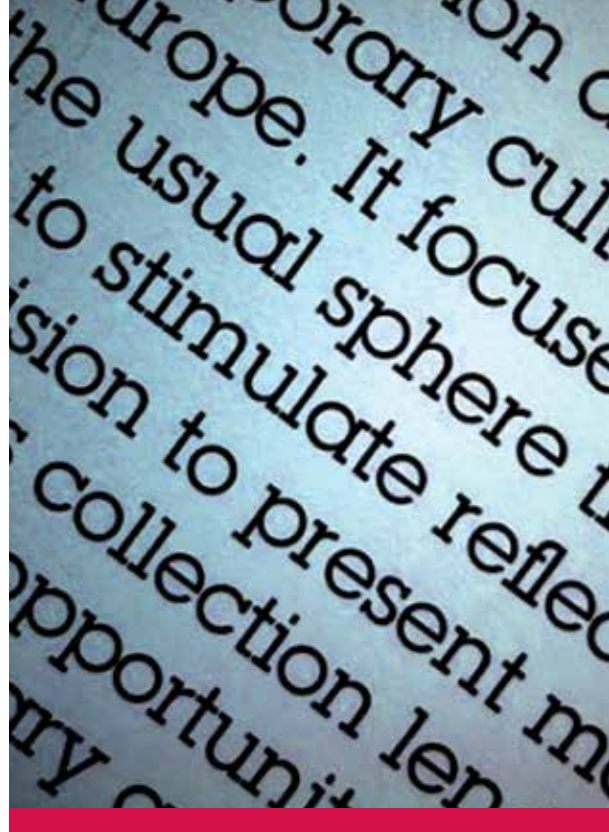

- Core Training Module:
12 compulsory ECTS
- Specific Training Module:
36 elective ECTS
- Final Project Module:
12 compulsory ECTS

Students must complete 60 ECTS: 2 compulsory subjects, 6 electives and the Final Year Project.

There is no definition by itineraries, therefore students may obtain their elective credits by choosing among the elective subjects offered, according to their training needs and future professional orientation.

Syllabus

TYPE OF SUBJECT	ECTS
Compulsory	12
Elective	36
Final Project	12
Total	60

Compulsory Subjects	ECTS	Semester
Core Training Module
Academic Skills for Research	6	1°
Methods and Tools for English Linguistics Research	6	1°
Elective Subjects	ECTS	Semester
Specific Training Module
Integrated Learning of Content and English Language in Bilingual and Immersion Contexts	6	1°
Linguistic Aspects of Audiovisual Translation (AVT)	6	1°
English as an International Language	6	1°
Language and Meaning: Semantics and Pragmatics of English	6	1°
Multimodality and Contemporary Communications in the English Language	6	1°
Sociolinguistics Applied to the English Language	6	1°
Critical Discourse Analysis in the English Language	6	2°
Contrastive Studies and Translation	6	2°
Cognitive Linguistics Studies	6	2°
Final Project	ECTS	Semester
Final Project	12	2°

UNIVERSIDAD
COMPLUTENSE
MADRID

www.ucm.es

Másteres
U C M

Campus de Excelencia Internacional

Faculty of Philology

Campus Moncloa
<http://filologia.ucm.es>

Contents of this brochure is subject to changes
For further information: www.ucm.es/ma-elnaic