Brie Henderson

Brie Henderson is a character designer with a specialty in costume design for feature film, animation and games. She hails from New York City, studied in San Francisco and currently lives and works in Burbank California. She has had the thrill of working for studios such as Cake Entertainment, Netflix Animation, Sony Pictures Animation, Marvel Animation, Titmouse, Six Point Harness, and others. In her free time, she obsessively cares for her 80+ plants, studies old film for their costumes, and is always pulling out her sketchbook to jot down some new idea. Brie is deeply passionate about teaching her students how to be better storytellers so that they too can help make some incredible films.

