

LEGAL ADVICE

Description

- Preparation of opinions on any matter of Civil Law.
- Technical legal advice in the areas of Personnel Law, Patrimonial Civil Law, Contracts, Liability, Property, Registration Law, Intellectual Property, Family, Inheritance Law.
- Specialized Teaching in Contracts and Consumer Law.

How does it work

Both the advisory work and the teaching or specialized teaching, is supported by the teaching and research experience of the faculty of the Department of Civil Law. Once the opinion or legal advice has been requested, it will be assigned to the relevant expert to carry it out.

Both the advisory work and the teaching or specialized teaching, is supported by the teaching and research experience of the faculty of the Department of Civil Law. Once the opinion or legal advice has been requested, it will be assigned to the relevant expert to carry it out.

Counseling can be done through:

- Opinion
- Drafting of procedural and extra-procedural legal documents
- Contribution of "force ideas" for theoretical and practical works.
- Any other means that is considered effective.

The teaching or specialized education can be projected in monographic courses, seminars, conferences, etc.

Advantages

The research team has extensive experience in the realization of this service, and has a thorough knowledge on the topics mentioned. These reasons also recommend their teaching activities, characterized by the originality of the subjects of which they are object.

Where has it been developed

Department of Civil Law of the Complutense University of Madrid.

And also

The group of researchers offers advice and teaching always adapted to the specific needs of the client.

Responsible Researcher

María Teresa Álvarez Moreno: mtalvarez@der.ucm.es

Department: Department of Civil Law

Faculty: Faculty of Law

