

6th October 2014
08:30 – 19:00	Registration
6th October 2014
	General Session 1 Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 2 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	Workshop 1: Evidentiality and the semantics-pragmatics interface Convenors: Bert Cornillie & Björn Wiemer Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro)
09:00 – 9:30	Karolien Janssens & Jan Nuyts Epistemic modality, evidentiality and subjectivity Independent categories in Dutch mental state predicates		Keynote speakers: Bert Cornillie & Björn Wiemer How can we describe the division of labour between semantics and pragmatics in the domain of epistemicity?
9:30 – 10:00	Tanja Mortelmans & Jeroen Vanderbiesen The Systems of Reportive Evidentiality in German and (Netherlandic /Belgian) Dutch	María Luisa Carrió Pastor & Francisco Alonso Almeida A contrastive analysis of the use of epistemic modals in genres	Kira Boulat Are you committed? A pragmatic model of commitment
10:00- 10:30	Kasper Boye Propositions, states-of-affairs and verbal mood. A Danish case study	Malgorzata Sokol Epistemic verbs and the construction of professional self in academic weblogs	Barbara Sonnenhauser 'Evidentiality' in pre-standardized Bulgarian
10:30 – 11:00	Coffee Break
11:00 – 12:00	Plenary session 1, Room: Paraninfo: Ronald W. Langacker (University of California, San Diego). Chair: Juana Marín Evidentiality in Cognitive Grammar
12:00 – 13:00	Opening Session, Room: Paraninfo. The Dean of the Faculty of Philology, The Dean of the Faculty of Philosophy, The Head of the Department of English Philology I
13:00 – 15:00	Lunch Break

	General Session 3 Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 4 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	Workshop 1: Evidentiality and the semantics-pragmatics interface Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro)
15:00-15:30	Ingeborg Harmes A synchronic and diachronic study of the auxiliary verb 'zou'	Miriam Pérez-Veneros & Izaskun Elorza The flow of authorized and journalists' voices in English and Spanish: A cross-linguistic study of science popularizations	Kepa Korta & Larraitx Zubeldia Basque particles and the semantic/pragmatic distinction
15:30 – 16:00	Sonja Zeman On prophesies, predictions, and speaker knowledge: German modal verb sollen + inf. Between temporality, epistemicity, and evidentiality	Blanca García Riaza The interplay of participants and reporting verbs in science popularization reports: analysis of an electronic corpus of newspaper articles	Marta Carretero & Karlos Cid-Abasolo The interaction between epistemic modality and evidentiality: a semantic-pragmatic analysis of Basque behar and omen / ei
16:00 – 16:30	David Banks The use of modality in the early academic article. The Journal des Sçavans and the Philosophical Transactions , 1665-1700	Laura Hidalgo Downing Modality, evaluation and stancetaking in two genres of scientific discourse: a corpus approach to scholarly and semi-formal publications	José Amenós-Pons, Aoife K. Ahern & Pedro Guijarro-Fuentes Metarepresentations and evidentiality in Spanish tense and mood interpretation: a cognitive pragmatic account
16:30 – 17:00	Coffee Break
	General Session 5 Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 6 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	Workshop 1: Evidentiality and the semantics-pragmatics interface Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro)
17:00 – 17:30	Montserrat González & Aina Torrent Evidential markers and translation (Spanish-English-German)	Stefania Maci Evidentiality in Scientific discourse: the case of medical posters	Axelle Vatrican Why rumor conditional in Spanish is evidential?
17:30-18:00	Marion Weerning German 'modulating' particles and their translatability into Italian: expressing probability, unquestionability or an inescapable conclusion	Natalia Mora Evidential and epistemic expressions in English and in Spanish online reviews	Marie-Stephan Spronck Semantic indexicality versus situated stance: modal evaluators, evidential positioners and pragmatics effects within the stance triangle
18:00-18:30		Erika Berglind Söderqvist Gender differences and similarities in the use of inferential evidentiality markers in spoken British English: A corpus-based study	Discussion
19:30	Walking tour

7th October 2014
	General Session 7 Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 8 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	General Session 9 Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro)
9:00 – 9:30	Aurelija Usonienė & Jolanta Šinkūnienė Potential vs use: revisiting evidential participial constructions in Lithuanian	Claudia Ricci & Elena Siminiciuc Modal future and commitment in French, Italian and Romanian	Dámaso Izquierdo Alegría Are certainty adverbs prototypical evidentials? Revisiting the semantics of certainty adverbs from a narrow perspective of evidentiality
9:30-10:00	Anna Ruskan On inferential and reportative evidential markers in Lithuanian newspaper discourse	Sonia N Gómez-Jordana The evolution of the marker “comme qui dirait” in French	Daisuke Suzuki (Inter)subjectification in the development of English modal adverbs: The cases of maybe and perhaps
10:00 – 10:30	Gerda Haßler, Anja Hennemann & Verónica Böhm On the evidential use of English adverbials and its equivalents in Romance languages and Russian. A morpho-syntactic analysis	Patrick Dendale The French conditional as reportative evidential marker	Lieselotte Brems, Kristin Davidse & An Van Linden Negative polarity as a trigger for the development of modal meaning
10:30 – 11:30	Plenary session 2, Room: Paraninfo: Jan Nuyts (University of Antwerp). Chair: Marta Carretero Deconstructing evidentiality
11:30-12:00	Coffee Break
	Workshop 2: Evidentiality, Modality and Corpus Linguistics Convenors: Dylan Glynn & Paola Pietrandrea Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 10 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	Workshop 3: Evidentiality, Mirativity and Modality Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro) Convenors: Agnès Celle & Anastasios Tsangalidis
12:00 – 12:30	Dylan Glynn & Paola Pietrandrea Introduction	Teresa Oliveira Between evidentiality and epistemic modality: the case of the future and the conditional in European Portuguese	Keynote speaker: Bettina Zeisler Evidentiality, speaker’s attitude, and mirativity in Ladakhi, (a Tibetic language spoken in the Northwest of India)
12:30 – 13:00	Paola Pietrandrea, Elisa Ghia, Andrea Sansò & Caterina Mauri Annotating modality cross-linguistically: theory, practice, problems	Adriana Ramos & Heliana Mello The use of certainty adverbs in Brazilian Portuguese and American English: a Semantic-pragmatic approach	Keynote speaker: Bettina Zeisler Evidentiality, speaker’s attitude, and mirativity in Ladakhi, (a Tibetic language spoken in the Northwest of India)
13:00 – 13:30	Ilse Depraetere & Rafael Salkie Sources of modality and ‘need to’	Gijs Mulder Pienso, luego tuiteo: the use of mental verbs in Spanish tweets	Theocharis Mexas Mirativity as “realization” marking: implications for Turkish as an indirective language
13:30 – 15:00	Lunch Break

	Workshop 2: Evidentiality, Modality and Corpus Linguistics Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 11 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	Workshop 3: Evidentiality, Mirativity and Modality Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro)
15:00-15:30	Dagmar Divjak, Nina Szymor, Steven Clancy, Ol'ga Lyashevskaya, Maria Ovsjannikova, Mateusz-Milan Stanojević & Anita Peti-Stantić Towards a usage-based categorization of modality in Slavic	Miriam Thegel Obligation and necessity in Spanish: the case of deber and tener que	Nigel Vincent & Mary Dalrymple Mirative meets conative
15:30 – 16:00	Juan Rafael Zamorano, Marta Carretero & Julia Lavid The annotation of modality and evidentiality in English-Spanish comparable and parallel texts	Susana Rodríguez Rosique The future of necessity in Spanish: epistemic modality, inferential evidentiality and deictic projection at the crossroad	Andreas Trotzke Mirativity, emphasis, and German word order
16:00 – 16:30	Juana I. Marín-Arrese Epistemic Stance in Journalistic Discourse Genres: A cross-linguistic study	Carlos Herrero Zorita Deontic modality markers in a Spanish spoken corpus	Karolina Krawczak & Dylan Glynn Constructional construal of mirativity in English: A corpus-based quantitative account
16:30 – 17:00	Coffee Break
	Workshop 2: Evidentiality, Modality and Corpus Linguistics Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 12 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	Workshop 3: Evidentiality, Mirativity and Modality Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro)
17:00 – 17:30	Izaskun Elorza & Miriam Pérez-Veneros Analysing perspective in polyphonic texts in English: The problems of annotating viewpoint in popularization article	Ana Llopis Cardona Polifonía y evidencialidad en los marcadores discursivos	Cristina Sánchez López Evidentiality and mirativity in Spanish
17:30-18:00	Philipp Dankel Evidentiality and communicative purpose – the Spanish hearsay marker dizque and its link to epistemic modality	María José Barrios Sabador La conjunción de evidencialidad y modalidad epistémica en la expresión de incertidumbre en español	Mario Serrano Raising turn out in late Modern English: The rise of a mirative construction
18:00- 18:30	Dylan Glynn & Karolina Krawczak Operationalisation and robust manual annotation of non-observable usage-features. An exploratory study in English and Polish	Marta Albelda Marco & Dorota Kotwica Spanish verb ver (to see): direct or indirect evidentiality?	Discussion
18:30-19:00	Discussion
21:00	Conference Dinner

8th October 2014
	General Session 13 Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 14 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)
9:00 – 9:30	Anne-Laure Besnard BE LIKELY TO and BE EXPECTED TO : Epistemic modality or evidentiality? Markers of (non)commitment in journalistic discourse	Marta Andersson Subjectivity of result relations
9:30 – 10:00	Lidia Mañoso Pacheco Reportive evidentials in newspaper discourse: A revised taxonomy	Pilar Guerrero Medina The covert modality of “letting” in English middle
10:00 – 10:30	María Pérez Blanco From evidentiality to expectedness: the functions of English evidential adverbs in newspaper opinion discourse	Eric Melac Lexical vs grammatical evidentiality: a corpus study of Tibetan and English
10:30 – 11:00	Coffee Break
	General Session 15 Room: Salón de Grados Filología (ground floor)	General Session 16 Room: Salón de Grados Filosofía (A-217)	General Session 17 Room: Sala Histórica (Américo Castro)
11:00 – 11:30	Celia Marqués-Amorós Is that what the President said? When reported words make headlines. A British-Spanish corpus study	Jorge Fernández Jaén El olfato como fuente de conocimiento: origen histórico de los usos evidenciales del verbo oler	Mihaela Cecilia Popescu & Oana Adriana Duță Romanian Presumptive, evidential and/or epistemic marker
11:30 – 12:00	Julia Lavid & Lara Moratón Writer's stance and engagement in English and Spanish newspaper genres: a contrastive corpus-based study	Ruth Breeze Passive of reporting verb: mapping the behavior of an existential structure using corpus tools	Meri Larjavaara Reported lies: “Incredulous evidentiality” and speaker's commitment
12:00 – 12:30	Shirley Zhong-yi XU Evidentiality in Political Discourse Analysis: Towards a New Typology
12:30-13:30	Plenary session 3, Room: Paraninfo: Rebecca Clift (University of Essex). Chair: Bert Cornillie Stance in the sequence
14:00	Trip to Segovia		