

UNIVERSIDAD COMPLUTENSE DE MADRID

Universidades Norteamericanas Reunidas

(Brief Course Description)

General History of Spain: 1492-1808 (Fall semester)

A study of modern history of Spain covering the period from the discovery of America to the beginnings of the modern period in the 19th century. Analysis of the role of the Spanish monarchy and its effects on demography, economy, society and political structures. Emphasis on the consequences of the French Revolution in Spain and the fall of the old monarchic era.

[Last revised: December, 2018]