

UNIVERSIDAD COMPLUTENSE DE MADRID
Universidades Norteamericanas Reunidas

(Brief Course Description)

Latin American Literature I: 15th –19th centuries (Fall semester)

A survey of Latin American literature covering the historical periods of the Conquest, colonialism, and movements of national independence. Various foundational texts are studied, from early chronicles to later texts that helped establish the identity of the new Latin American nations.

[Last revised: December, 2018]