

PhD English Linguistics

Training Activities

Two oral presentations in Scientific Conferences

- Optional task.
- Language: English
- Duration: 10 hours
- Schedule: semestre 4, 5 or 6
- Control: Presentation of the presentation outline, which will be signed by the thesis supervisor and included in the student's activity profile. Certificate of participation in the corresponding Conference or Congresses.
- Description: Students will present, in approximately 20 minutes, issues related to their research in Conferences, Forums or Scientific Congresses. They will be encouraged to participate in the English Linguistics Seminar which will be held annually, with the participation of young researchers. Discussion of the research projects in an open, effective and plural environment will be promoted.
- Outcome: Students will be able to present and defend topics related to their research field in Conferences, Forums or Scientific Congresses in an autonomous, clear and effective manner. This will help to further develop their knowledge in aspects which are relevant to the research project the PhD candidates will be developing; they will be able to exchange opinions and communicate with researchers from the same scientific field; they will gain experience in communicating their results to the scientific community and they will learn how to communicate partial or global results of their own research in scientific meetings.