

Erasmus Welcome Session

Academic Year 2021 / 2022

Welcome to Complutense University of Madrid, One of the most prestigious universities of Spain

Spanish Version

English Version

Five Centuries of History

The Complutense University of Madrid (UCM) is the largest university in Spain and one of the oldest and most prestigious. Its origin dates back to the late 13th Century.

The Complutense University of Madrid traces its origins to the Estudio de Escuelas Generales de Alcalá, founded by King Sancho IV of Castille in 1293.

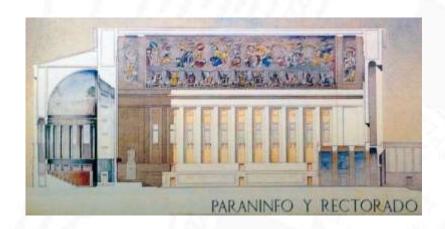

1499: Cardinal Cisneros founds the "El Colegio Mayor San Ildefonso", the predecessor of today's university, in the town of Alcalá de Henares.

1509: The University has five faculties.

1836: Under the reign of Isabel II, the university is moved to Madrid where it took the name Universidad Central.

Find out more...

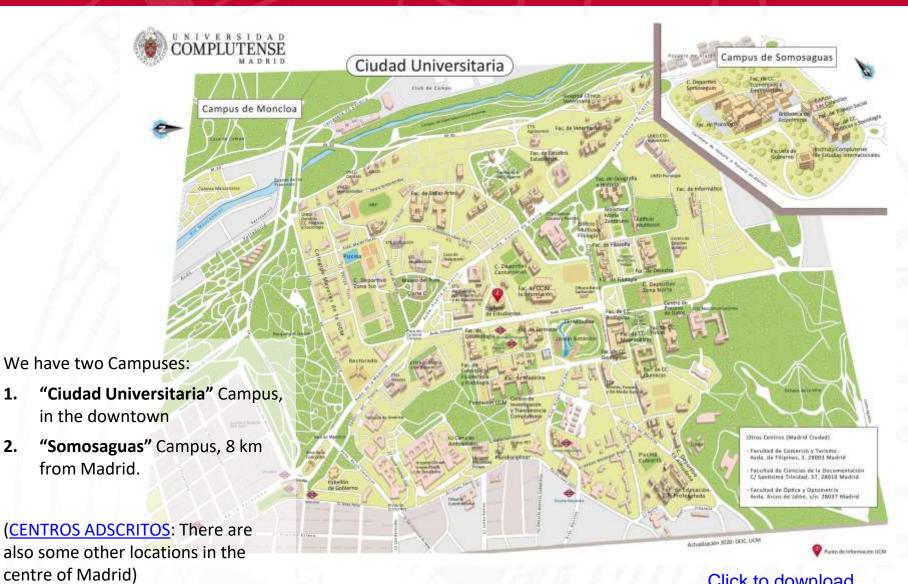

1927: Construction begins on the Moncloa campus on land granted by King Alfonso XIII.

1970: The Central University is renamed the Complutense and the Somosaguas Campus is created.

2018: The Complutense University is now the largest university in Madrid and one of the most important universities in Spain and in Europe.
