

REVISTA DE ECONOMÍA MUNDIAL

JOURNAL OF WORLD ECONOMY

Presentation of a special section on
Deindustrialization and industrial policy

- Panel 1: Industrial policy in historical perspective
- Panel 2: Industrial policy in the European Union
- Panel 3: Other experiences with industrial policy

Date

February 17th 2022

Place

Instituto Complutense de Estudios Internacionales (ICEI)
and online (the link for participation will be sent shortly)

ICEI Instituto Complutense
de Estudios Internacionales

In collaboration with the Department of Applied Economics, Structure, and History and the UCM research group on Global Political Economy (EPM)

Revista de Economía Mundial (REM)
Journal of World Economy

Presentation of a special section on
Deindustrialization and industrial policy

- Welcome (9.30am). Manuela de Paz (editor in chief of REM) and Clara García (co-editor of the special section and co-director of the EPM research group)
- Panel 1 (10.00am)
Industrial policy from a historical perspective
Robert Wade (LSE) – Commentator: Nuria Puig (UCM)
Moderator: Rafael Fernández (UCM)
- Panel 2 (12.00pm)
Industrial policy in the European Union
Stephany Griffith-Jones (Columbia Univ.), Natalya Naqvi (LSE), Rafael Myro (UCM), and Ángela García Calvo (Univ. of Reading)
Moderator: Daniel Díaz Fuentes (Univ. of Cantabria)
- Panel 3 (3.30pm)
Other experiences with industrial policy
Fuad Hasanov (IMF, Georgetown Univ., Univ. of Cambridge), Reda Cherif (IMF, Univ. of Cambridge), Gary Xie (Univ. of Cambridge), Antonio Andreoni (Univ. College London), and Carlos Oya (SOAS)
Moderator: Clara García (UCM)

Address: Campus de Somosaguas, Universidad Complutense de Madrid, 28223 Pozuelo de Alarcón, Madrid.

Due to the pandemic, on-site attendance is restricted. If you want to attend, please contact Clara García (clgarcia@ucm.es) or Rafael Fernández (rafernán@ucm.es).

You may also participate online (the link will be sent shortly).

About the special section in the Journal of World Economy

The special section aims to contribute to concrete and contextual knowledge on structural trends and industrial policies: the knowledge necessary to promote selective policies that make it possible to undertake 'missions' with some effectiveness. Thus it presents five works, the first of which introduces the section with an overview of the former dearth and late resurgence of sectoral concerns and of industrial policy. The remaining four works focus on specific geographical areas – the European Union, East Asia, Spain, and the U.S. – addressing diverse relevant aspects of the question that occupies this section: public promotional banking and finance; State-business relations in industrial policy; the evaluation of a specific productive-export structure; and the consequences of deindustrialization in terms of productivity.

About the EPM research group

The research group on Global Political Economy (EPM in its Spanish acronym) aims to analyze the dynamics of growth and structural change that take place in key spaces of the world economy, in a context of commercial, productive, and financial interdependence. Analyses are carried out with a political economy approach, in which distribution and institutions become a central part of economic research.

